With Power to add three to their Number.

General Agents, pro tem.
Messrs. JOHN FORSTER & Co., FOOCHOW.
Superintendent.—
CAPTAIN JOHN C. SKEY.

THE scheme has been fully discussed by the Foochow Community, to whom it was in its first instance submitted, and who generally appreciate its advantages, but require outside funds to assist in carrying it through. At a general Meeting, a special Committee of five Gentlemen was elected to investigate and consider the subject. The Report furnished was highly satisfactory, and was supported by a Survey Report by competent authorities upon the condition of the Dock and Premises.

The object of the Company is to take over from Mr. JOHN FORSTER the Dock at the Pagoda Anchorage, known as the Foochow Dock, with the property and machinery attached, valued together at $150,000, and also the Tug-Steamer Woosung, valued $60,000. The remaining $60,000 will be used for the purchase of stock and materials (of which a considerable quantity is on hand, and is offered at cost price); for the improvement of the Establishment; and for the purchase of an additional Tug-Steamer; in accordance with the recommendation of the special Committee for working the whole to best advantage.

By arrangement with Mr. JOHN FORSTER, the Company will take over the property to be purchased from him, from the 1st January of the present year: from which date all profits on the business are to accrue to them, while he shall receive interest at the rate of 9 per cent. per annum on the amount of purchase money, until paid up.

The Company will be managed by a Board of Five Directors, Two of whom are now elected, with the power to add three more to their number. Three will retire annually, but are eligible for re-election.

The funds of the Company will be entirely under the control of the Board.

A statement of accounts will be submitted to a Meeting of the Resident Shareholders, to be held annually, when a dividend will be declared.

Applications for Shares, in the annexed form, to be addressed to Messrs. JOHN FORSTER & Co., Foochow, who will act as General Agents until all are allotted.

An application for Shares, followed by an allotment thereon, will constitute the applicant a shareholder in the Company.

The deed of settlement will be duly prepared, and copies will be furnished to the Shareholders when ready.

FORM OF APPLICATION FOR SHARES.

To the Directors of the FOOCHOW DOCK COMPANY.

GENTLEMEN,—I request you to allot to Shares of $100 each in the above Company; and I agree to accept such Shares or any less number you may allot to and to pay the Calls thereon; and authorize you to place my name on the Register of Shareholders for the Shares allotted.

REPORT ON THE PROPOSED DOCK SCHEME.

FOOCHOW, 19th February, 1870.

When it was lately proposed by Mr. John Forster to transfer his interest in the Dock at Pagoda Anchorage to a public company, the community of Foochow, taking the proposal into consideration, appointed a committee of five gentlemen, for the purpose of investigating the merits of the scheme, and of reporting to the community thereon for their investigations.

The Committee so appointed has had two objects in view: 1st, to ascertain to actual condition of the Dock; 2nd, to consider after a careful examination of the books if the scheme were likely to prove a remunerative one.

As for as the first point is concerned, the committee is satisfied that the Dock at Pagoda Anchorage is in excellent order and full worth the value placed upon it. Two competent men uninterested in the scheme, have at the request of the committee surveyed the Dock thoroughly, viz: Captain Disbee, Divisional Inspector of the Maritime Customs, and Captain Shaw, one of the Surveyors established at the Anchorage, whose report will be found appended. Captain Davidson, Commander H.M.S. Hornet, has also kindly allowed the use of his name in support of the statement of the above-named gentlemen, having himself taken the trouble to make a careful survey of the property. The Committee was therefore no hesitation in endorsing the conclusion arrived at by the surveyors, and in declaring themselves satisfied on the first point before them.

Regarding the second point, a sub-committee composed of Messrs. Mirsten and Dalrymple has been deputed to examine the books, and to report to what extent they might find it practicable to reduce the expenses of the Dock. Their report shows that during the two years ending 30th, to June last, over which their examination extended, all the expenses for the steamer and at the Dock had been bought at Foochow. The Committee therefore may with confidence affirm that a considerable reduction might be effected under that head. They would have the same opinion to give regarding the purchase of other materials necessary for the working of the Dock which it appears from the books, were nearly all purchased in Hongkong and on the spot, at a probable average cost of at least 15 to 20 per cent. above the cost of direct importation. As regards salaries, &c., of the staff, the Committee is satisfied that the reduced scale sanctioned by the Superintendent, Captain J. C. Skey, can be carried out without impairing the efficiency of the concern.

The Committee is therefore of opinion, that it would not be unreasonable for the shareholders to expect a Dividend of 15 to 20 per cent. on their investment; and as the capabilities of the Dock become better known, an even larger return might be looked for.

Should the scheme meet with sufficient support, it is proposed to form a company with a total capital of $240,000, to be raised in 2,000 shares of $100 each, of which $50 is to be called up at once, a further $25 at the expiration of three months, and the remaining $25 at the end of six months. With this capital, the actual establishment might be improved, a second and strong Tug-boat might be purchased, and a balance of between $30,000 or $35,000 would still remain to work the Dock.

It is hardly necessary for the committee to allude to the importance to the company of undertaking the Towage of the Port. The income shown of the working of the steamer Woosung during the past two years, speaks for itself; and the purchase of a second Tug-boat, would, it is believed, go far to secure the monopoly of this business.

Many other improvements which might be effected by a new company, would, no doubt, tend to increase the annual dividend of the shareholders; but such details the committee feel should be in the province of the future Directors to determine.

Mr. Forster has offered to allow the new company to take over the Dock and steamer Woosung from the 1st January, 1870; all the profits from that date going to the credit of the company, and he to receive interest at the rate of 9 per cent. per annum from that date until the purchase money be paid up. Considering that about $4,000 have been collected during the past month, and that a contract for extensive repairs has been entered into with the N. D. Dock Company, the proposal cannot be regarded as otherwise than a fair one, and to the benefit of the new company. All questions of detail, and petty disbursements incurred subsequently to 1st January, 1870, might be left to be arranged by the Board of Directors with Mr. Forster, on the understanding that the amount thereof should not exceed $1,000.

The Committee, having now fulfilled the duties imposed upon it by the community, it rests with the latter, should they be favorably disposed, to inaugurate some scheme, such as that above proposed, by which a company might be at once formed to undertake the working of the business.

SURVEY REPORT ON THE FOOCHOW DOCK.

The undersigned having been called upon by the Baron de Meritens to survey and report upon the Foochow Dock, report as follows, viz:—

We find this Dock in a thorough good working order and condition: it has a good stone foundation: the two lower terraces are also of stone, and the upper sides are well piled. &c. We find the Caisson in a good efficient state, strongly built of iron bark; sides and deck of Oregon pine; bottom and some of the side planks of iron bark; bottom metal sheathed. The Caisson is petectly water-tight and well fitted with pumps and sluices. &c. The Dock has apparently no leaks, is well and properly fitted with good blocks of iron bark wood. Engines and pumps tried in our presence are found be in first class order. There is a Whitworth's Lathe and some good serviceable machinery useful for repairing steamers, &c. Blacksmith's shop with three forges well serviceable for the repairs of ships, &c., but the building is not in proper order. The Dock has a good Engine House, good Godowns, and Timber sheds, and a large and good supply of Timber, Spars, &c., and all necessaries for the requirements of the Dock.

HONGKONG, MAY 24TH, 1870.

ALTHOUGH, as already mentioned, the absence of a subsidized mail service between Foochow and Hongkong will probably not cause so much inconvenience as was at first anticipated, in consequence of the private steamers having of late been more regular, still it appears to us a subject of regret that the General Post-office have refused to entertain the application that was made on this subject. The state of affairs that exists to-day may cease at any given moment that the trading advantages do not seem to warrant the despatch of three private steamers as is now the case. The P. and O. steamers —whether for ulterior reasons or not, of course cannot be said—have frequently contrived to bring their steamers into Hongkong very late upon mail day, or too late altogether for the despatch of the letters; and it may fairly be held that the course of so important a branch of commerce as the China trade ought not to be subject to being put out of order by any accident of this description. The inconvenience is naturally most severely felt in Hongkong, as it is at this port that its immediate results become apparent; but it is none the less one affecting the whole of the China trade, rendering statistics defective, and advices either hasty or incomplete. It is to be regretted that the question has come before the authorities in St. Martin's le Grand merely as one of Colonial interest, instead of as matter of much importance to the China trade—at the ports and in Mincing-lane as much as in Hongkong. Had this view been brought forward more prominently, it is probable the result, upon which the negotiations have at all events for the present split, would have been avoided, and that the Post-office Authorities at home would have formed more accurate estimate of the true merits of the questions. It is not as the despatch from the Post-office shows has been concluded, a matter of mere local interest, but one, of extended bearings, and such we might fairly claim consideration. It may be hoped that it is not yet too late to re-open the question in a more suitable form, and correct the misapprehension which has evidently been made with regard to it. The port of Foochow is of so much importance as one at which a large part of the China Trade is conducted, that it cannot be fairly left out of the Postal Service, and, if this be properly represented to the Government at home, together with a reference to large amount of duty or tea which Foochow contributes to the Imperial Revenue, and the interest which the Home merchants have in being certain regularly to receive their advices, it is fair to conclude that something may yet be done to remedy a serious commercial inconvenience, and to remove from the China Postal Service the one flaw which renders it at present defective.

THE publication of the correspondence with reference to the Special Fund may be taken as a prelude to bringing forward the Estimates for the year 1871; and is doubtless designed—and very properly so—to place the public in possession of the necessary information on this important subject. No doubt the community will desire that the subject be placed upon a sound and permanent footing at the next meeting of the Legislative Council, and it is desirable, therefore, to consider what means are in existence to secure the representation of the public with regard to the raising and expenditure of taxes, the more especially as it is clear from the tenor of EARL GRANVILLE'S despatches that the Home Government are not only willing, but desirous, that the views of the general public in Hongkong should be properly considered with respect to all matters of local finance. The measure of keeping back the Special Fund from the cognisance of the public—which may be considered the origin of half the confusion that has arisen in respect to this matter, does not appear to have met with approval at the Colonial Office, to judge from the peremptory manner in which the Secretary of State for the Colonies orders that the account in future be included among the Estimates laid upon the table; and the tone which runs through the whole of the despatches on this subject is such as to show very distinctly that the Home Authorities are in favour of the fullest publicity, and the most careful discussion of all matters of local finance. It is evident, therefore, that were there adequate means for representing the views of the general public with regard to financial matters, there would be no reason for the community becoming bound by a budget to which it had any valid objection.

A difficulty, however, arises in the defective manner in which the community is represented at the Legislative Council, which enables the Government practically to pass any measure they like by means of the preponderating influence which they possess through the support of the official members.

UNNECESSARY VIOLENCE.

Fuzelah, of the Punjab, P.C. No. 413, was fined $5 for unnecessary violence to a prisoner, and trying to support his case by producing manufactured evidence in the shape of a torn coat. The prisoner was arrested for being out without a pass, and had the constable taken him in a proper manner to the station at Wanchai, he would have been lodged out by his master, who had sent him on a message, and was close at hand.

The average number of drunks on Monday was fairly maintained, no person were somewhat in excess, stealing fruit and damaging trees, evidenced the progress of the spring, hawking without a licence about one, in gambling no excitement, obstructing thoroughfares somewhat easier than heretofore, petty offences as usual.

THE LOSS OF THE "SLANEY."

H.M. gun vessel Slaney, 391 tons, 80 horse power, Lieutenant and Commander William F. L. Elwyn, left Singapore for Hongkong on 14th April, 1870. A Chinese servant arrived at Hongkong on the 23rd May with the news of her total loss on the 8th May, after experiencing very heavy weather, and having lost her masts and boats, &c., some days before. Of a complement of 51 persons all are reported to be lost except Mr. Milton, gunner; 1 corporal R. M. L. I., 1 ship's cook, 1 quarter master, 1 seaman, and 4 Chinese. The remainder, including Lieut.-Com. Elwyn, Nav. Sub. Lieut. Robert S. Evatt, and Assistant Surgeon William F. Ryall, and 42 Seamen and Marines were drowned in attempting to swim on shore. The Chinese servant (a very intelligent man) who has arrived at Hongkong, has proceeded in H.M.S. Solunia to the scene of the wreck. The Solunia is in charge of Captain W. N. W. Hewett, V.C., and the Adventure, Captain H. J. Raby, V.C., has also proceeded to the Pescadores Group, to act in concert with the Solunia for the relief of the survivors. Both these ships left Hongkong shortly before sunset last night.

The ship Caroline is also reported to have been wrecked on the Pescadores Group, in the same neighbourhood as the Slaney, and Her Majesty's ships will afford every assistance to the distressed seamen of this or any other wrecked vessel.

LOSS OF THE "BAY."

The steamer Bay, of 97 tons, bound for Manila, left Hongkong on May 4th, and the Lamma on the 5th, with the wind at N.N.E. and smooth water. Passed the Taitamu Channel at 2.30 p.m., and found a moderate breeze which after midnight freshened, with a strong swell; steered to the southward. On the 7th, the wind increased, until it blew a moderate gale, still steering to the southward, commenced to make a little water, and lost spoons on both sides forward of the wheels. On the 8th, at noon, altered course to S.S.W., sounding in 30 fathoms, running Turon, on the Coast of Cochin China, the sun obscure, and the weather very thick, gale increasing and heavy squall with rain. On Monday, wind S.S.B., endeavoured to get clear for the channel of Balabac, but without success, failed also to obtain a meridian observation, estimating by the reckoning that with the vessel was far enough, too way and drift, to the Westward of Balabac, and commenced to make very heavy weather, shipping it green over all, hands pumping and bailing. About 3 p.m. saw patches of green water, and at four o'clock described, for a short interval, high land bearing W. by N. right ahead South, and a terrific sea running; at 6 p.m., gale still increasing and ship laboring heavily, and wallowing in the trough of the sea. Finding it impossible to clear the land, after passing a small island, supposed to be Pulo Cagayan, about half a mile, the starboard engine refused duty, and seeing breakers to leeward, let go the anchor on the port bow, and veered to the chain. About seven o'clock, a tremendous sea struck which smashed the vessel completely, and washed away the starboard boat, and the remainder of the spoons on the starboard side. Immediately after this sea coming over all, Mr. Milton, gunner, Lieutenant and Commander William F. L. Elwyn, left Singapore for Hongkong on 14th April, 1870. A Chinese servant arrived at Hongkong on the 23rd May with the news of her total loss on the 8th May, after experiencing very heavy weather, and having lost her masts and boats, &c., some days before. Of a complement of 51 persons all are reported to be lost except Mr. Milton, gunner; 1 corporal R. M. L. I., 1 ship's cook, 1 quarter master, 1 seaman, and 4 Chinese. The remainder, including Lieut.-Com. Elwyn, Nav. Sub. Lieut. Robert S. Evatt, and Assistant Surgeon William F. Ryall, and 42 Seamen and Marines were drowned in attempting to swim on shore. The Chinese servant (a very intelligent man) who has arrived at Hongkong, has proceeded in H.M.S. Solunia to the scene of the wreck. The Solunia is in charge of Captain W. N. W. Hewett, V.C., and the Adventure, Captain H. J. Raby, V.C., has also proceeded to the Pescadores Group, to act in concert with the Solunia for the relief of the survivors. Both these ships left Hongkong shortly before sunset last night.

The ship Caroline is also reported to have been wrecked on the Pescadores Group, in the same neighbourhood as the Slaney, and Her Majesty's ships will afford every assistance to the distressed seamen of this or any other wrecked vessel.

The London and China Express states that another China debate is expected to come on shortly after the recess. The reports of Messrs. Mitchie and Francis on the Upper Yangtsze is ordered to be laid on the table of the House of Commons. Another large Blue-book has been issued, of correspondence on the China and Japan Legations and Consulates. From St. Petersburg it is reported the negotiations with the Chinese Embassy have been broken off.

There is a new move in Police organisation, in the "Toggery" Department. The members of the force are divided into three degrees, Positive, comparative and negative. The first wear a distinguishing mark on the point of the jacket-collar of Emma green, the second of blue, and the third, white. These are signs by which the public will be able to recognise the good character in the force from the indifferent and bad. Of the former the police, like Galley Slaves, will display in their dress their "status."

It will not be very long before a start will be made with laying the first cable between Hongkong and Shanghai. The Agents of the Danish Company, which, under the name of the Great Northern Telegraph, China and Japan, Company, has been launched on the continent and in London under the unexceptionable auspices of Messrs. Hambro & Co., have already arrived in Hongkong, and the cable may be expected out in the Danish Frigate Fordentskja, which by last advices has arrived in the Tinmen and is expected to leave by the end of May. The first cable is to be laid from Possetta to Shanghai, and if advisable touching at Nagasaki, and the next from Shanghai to Hongkong, ultimately including the other important ports in China and Japan. It is stated that the Agents who have arrived contemplate taking premises in the Western part of the town, to be near the Chinese; but it would seem advisable that they should have offices in a more central position, as the bulk of the messages will be from European and Chinese messages, at least, for a long time will be sent through the aid of European merchants.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

BEFORE C. MAY, Esq.
May 23rd.

SUSPICIOUS.

Lee Ashing, shroff to Mr. Burlington, charged Kang Awong and Fan Achau, of Sunon, carpenters, on the 14th of May with having robbed him of $63.60. These defendants were dismissed, a strong suspicion resting on the shroff, as on a previous occasion he had lost $300, which was paid by his security. One of the men charged had been in gaol for two years for highway robbery, and the other at work in the Naval Yard for the same period.

SUSPECTED.

Lum Ayee and Teong Apoon, chair coolies, were charged by Inspector Horspool, with suspicious behaviour in a sunken man, who was sitting down leaning against the palings of Messrs. Sassoon's stables, and upon the coolies seeing him approach they hurriedly picked up their chair and went off into the Queen's Road. On examination the man proved to be a marine, too drunk to know anything, and without anything of value on his person. Defendants were ordered to find security, each in one householder for $10, to be forthcoming within one month.

STEALING BEEF.

Lee Asing, of Poonyu, was charged by Cheong Afong, a butcher in the General Market, with having stolen from the hook, upon which it was hanging, a piece of beef weighing about 15lbs. (produced). It was about 4.30 a.m. (23rd). The defendant stated that he was a boatman, and discharged on account of ill-health. He was walking through the market, and a man with a white jacket asked him to carry the beef; when he was taken this man ran away. Two months' imprisonment with hard labour.

To-day being the anniversary of Her Majesty's birthday, a parade of the troops in Garrison will take place at 6 p.m. A Royal Salute and "feu de joie" will be fired on the Parade Ground. The band of the 76th Regiment will accordingly not play in the Public Gardens as usual.

THE FOOCHOW SUBSIDY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR,—I observe by the date of the despatch, which you publish to-day, on the question of the Foochow subsidy, that it must have been received in Hongkong early in April. May I enquire why the Chamber of Commerce did not think it necessary to give publicity to it before, and whether they have taken any steps with regard to it?

THE LATE MR. ANSON BURLINGAME.

(Japan Mail.)

The part which Mr. Anson Burlingame has played in the recent relations of China to the Western world has been too large to permit of our dismissing his name with no more than the short obituary notice which appeared a week back in this Journal. This notice expressed sentiments in regard to the late Chinese Envoy which all who had the pleasure of knowing him must have fully concurred in. Warm hearted, full of running Turon, on the Coast of Cochin China, the sun obscure, and the weather very thick, gale increasing and heavy squall with rain. On Monday, wind S.S.B., endeavoured to get clear for the channel of Balabac, but without success, failed also to obtain a meridian observation, estimating by the reckoning that with the vessel was far enough, too way and drift, to the Westward of Balabac, and commenced to make very heavy weather, shipping it green over all, hands pumping and bailing. About 3 p.m. saw patches of green water, and at four o'clock described, for a short interval, high land bearing W. by N. right ahead South, and a terrific sea running; at 6 p.m., gale still increasing and ship laboring heavily, and wallowing in the trough of the sea. Finding it impossible to clear the land, after passing a small island, supposed to be Pulo Cagayan, about half a mile, the starboard engine refused duty, and seeing breakers to leeward, let go the anchor on the port bow, and veered to the chain. About seven o'clock, a tremendous sea struck which smashed the vessel completely, and washed away the starboard boat, and the remainder of the spoons on the starboard side. Immediately after this sea coming over all, Mr. Milton, gunner, Lieutenant and Commander William F. L. Elwyn, left Singapore for Hongkong on 14th April, 1870. A Chinese servant arrived at Hongkong on the 23rd May with the news of her total loss on the 8th May, after experiencing very heavy weather, and having lost her masts and boats, &c., some days before. Of a complement of 51 persons all are reported to be lost except Mr. Milton, gunner; 1 corporal R. M. L. I., 1 ship's cook, 1 quarter master, 1 seaman, and 4 Chinese. The remainder, including Lieut.-Com. Elwyn, Nav. Sub. Lieut. Robert S. Evatt, and Assistant Surgeon William F. Ryall, and 42 Seamen and Marines were drowned in attempting to swim on shore. The Chinese servant (a very intelligent man) who has arrived at Hongkong, has proceeded in H.M.S. Solunia to the scene of the wreck. The Solunia is in charge of Captain W. N. W. Hewett, V.C., and the Adventure, Captain H. J. Raby, V.C., has also proceeded to the Pescadores Group, to act in concert with the Solunia for the relief of the survivors. Both these ships left Hongkong shortly before sunset last night.

The ship Caroline is also reported to have been wrecked on the Pescadores Group, in the same neighbourhood as the Slaney, and Her Majesty's ships will afford every assistance to the distressed seamen of this or any other wrecked vessel.

LOSS OF THE "BAY."

The steamer Bay, of 97 tons, bound for Manila, left Hongkong on May 4th, and the Lamma on the 5th, with the wind at N.N.E. and smooth water. Passed the Taitamu Channel at 2.30 p.m., and found a moderate breeze which after midnight freshened, with a strong swell; steered to the southward. On the 7th, the wind increased, until it blew a moderate gale, still steering to the southward, commenced to make a little water, and lost spoons on both sides forward of the wheels. On the 8th, at noon, altered course to S.S.W., sounding in 30 fathoms, running Turon, on the Coast of Cochin China, the sun obscure, and the weather very thick, gale increasing and heavy squall with rain. On Monday, wind S.S.B., endeavoured to get clear for the channel of Balabac, but without success, failed also to obtain a meridian observation, estimating by the reckoning that with the vessel was far enough, too way and drift, to the Westward of Balabac, and commenced to make very heavy weather, shipping it green over all, hands pumping and bailing. About 3 p.m. saw patches of green water, and at four o'clock described, for a short interval, high land bearing W. by N. right ahead South, and a terrific sea running; at 6 p.m., gale still increasing and ship laboring heavily, and wallowing in the trough of the sea. Finding it impossible to clear the land, after passing a small island, supposed to be Pulo Cagayan, about half a mile, the starboard engine refused duty, and seeing breakers to leeward, let go the anchor on the port bow, and veered to the chain. The ship Caroline is also reported to have been wrecked on the Pescadores Group, in the same neighbourhood as the Slaney, and Her Majesty's ships will afford every assistance to the distressed seamen of this or any other wrecked vessel.

The afternoon was fairly maintained, no person were somewhat in excess, stealing fruit and damaging trees, evidenced the progress of the spring, hawking without a licence about one, in gambling no excitement, obstructing thoroughfares somewhat easier than heretofore, petty offences as usual.

THE LOSS OF THE "SLANEY."

H.M. gun vessel Slaney, 391 tons, 80 horse power, Lieutenant and Commander William F. L. Elwyn, left Singapore for Hongkong on 14th April, 1870. A Chinese servant arrived at Hongkong on the 23rd May with the news of her total loss on the 8th May, after experiencing very heavy weather, and having lost her masts and boats, &c., some days before. Of a complement of 51 persons all are reported to be lost except Mr. Milton, gunner; 1 corporal R. M. L. I., 1 ship's cook, 1 quarter master, 1 seaman, and 4 Chinese. The ship Caroline is also reported to have been wrecked on the Pescadores Group, in the same neighbourhood as the Slaney, and Her Majesty's ships will afford every assistance to the distressed seamen of this or any other wrecked vessel.

THE LOSS OF THE "CARL OTAGUS."

The British ship Caroline, of Liverpool, George Murray, master, left Yokohama on the 26th April, bound to Saigon in ballast. After a rapid passage of fourteen days she struck on Dromnetts Island, on the Pareel Shoals, at 7.40 a.m. of the 9th inst., blowing a typhoon at the time from E.S.E. This gale commenced on the 5th at p.m., with the wind from N.E., and continuing increasing with a tremendous sea on until midnight of the 8th. The ship was under bare poles when she struck, up to that moment having lost nothing. Immediately the ship struck, cut away the mainmast, and then the mizenmast and the fore top mast went from the heavy thumping of the ship; launched the gig, and she was stove by the wreck of the masts alongside, the starboard side of the ship being next the land and a lee under it. When the ship first struck, she was about three-quarters of a mile from the land, which was not visible from the density of the atmosphere; the sea soon beat the wreck inshore and when about 400 yards tried to reach in the pinnace, with a line, but the line fouling the wreck alongside, bringing the boat beam on the sea, were obliged to cut the line and make straight for the shore to save life. After reaching the land, were unable to render any assistance to those on board until next day, about 6 a.m., when one of the men waded out so far that those on board were able to heave him a line, and with this a hawser and small anchor were got on shore. By this time the weather was moderating; got as much provisions and water (there being none on the Island) as first on shore as quickly as possible and afterwards canvas, &c., &c., to rig shelter which the carpenter and four men immediately commenced to rig up to receive Mrs. Murray, and her boy of seven years, as well as could be done. All hand then came on shore and slept. The next morning continued the work of saving stores, and so on until Thursday, at 8 p.m., when some Chinese fishermen made their appearance having with them four European, and three Chinese lately attached to H. M. Gunboat Slaney, which was wrecked on Tuesday, the 10th at 5 a.m., about 15 miles to the northward of the Carolines. On the next morning the mate and four hands and the Gunner went to an Island, distant about ten miles, and there found one European and one Chinaman, making Slaney's nine all told, 42 being reported as drowned. Commenced preparations to outfit the pinnace for Hongkong, and left on the 15th at daylight, steered N.W., and on 17th made Haimun, about Calloon Bay, and finding there nothing better than pirates, continued for Hongkong. On Thursday sighted a junk, who fired at the boat, wanting her to heave to, but the hunt outsailed the Junk. Next morning about 7 sail another Junk which skinned the best of all that was in her, beat and wounded her crew; before leaving this Junk gave back a little water and biscuit owing to the presence of the Chinese on board saved from the wreck. At 10 a.m. met another Junk, who agreed to land all in Hongkong for a consideration, sum unknown; this crew behaved well and ultimately landed the party at Macao.

THE LATE MR. ANSON BURLINGAME.

(Japan Mail.)

The part which Mr. Anson Burlingame has played in the recent relations of China to the Western world has been too large to permit of our dismissing his name with no more than the short obituary notice which appeared a week back in this Journal. This notice expressed sentiments in regard to the late Chinese Envoy which all who had the pleasure of knowing him must have fully concurred in. Warm hearted, full of running humour, and enthusiastic, we have no doubt whatever that he entered on his mission with a number of unanalysed impressions and hopes, rather than with definite, practical and realizable views. Once embarked on it, he became alternately dazzled and blinded, and thus entirely lost his way. The keynote which in his enthusiasm he first struck, was too high pitched; he could neither retract from it nor continue to sing up to it, and the consequence was that the very efforts which made him brilliant and successful at first were the real preludes and causes of his failure.

It may not be uninteresting to our readers if we place before them some facts in regard to the inception of this mission, which may serve to throw light on proceedings so favourably regarded at first, and which have since produced so much just disappointment and dissatisfaction. In doing this we cannot separate the question from the action of the British Minister at Pekin, as the proceedings of both were inextricably involved each in the other's.

Apprized early in 1868 by the originators of the scheme, of the intention of the Chinese Government to send a mission to Europe in the person of Mr. Burlingame, Sir Rutherford Alcock was so pleased—or perhaps we should say fascinated—with the project, that he was not content with merely lending it countenance. To vest the length of assuming its paternity, to the intense satisfaction of the proposer, who had expected formidable difficulties in persuading him to agree to it at all. That the mission over left Pekin, or met with any measure of success in England, was entirely due to the latent, almost vehement support it met with from the British Minister. His colleagues, particularly the French and Prussian Ministers, stoutly opposed the scheme, and were not slow to point out to Sir Rutherford Alcock the unfitness of deliberately placing an American as intermediary between Her Majesty and the Emperor of China, without any conceivable object whatever. They did not hesitate to hint at complications in which all foreign powers must sooner or later be involuntarily involved, if a precedent so unusual and so dangerous should be set. It was a species of interference in the last degree ill-advised and injudicious for the Chinese had in sending the mission.

There can be but little doubt that to the Burlingame mission scheme there were three parties. France; the Chinese Government. Second: Mr. Hart, the Inspector-General of Foreign Customs at Pekin and Mr. Brown, and Third: Mr. Burlingame.

The object of the Chinese Government was afterwards, and the Five Queen fellows to-morrow. The reception of the Emperor of Europe, ing for Since. The Sterling and Levant have ing for the plans, which are unquestionably hostile, and not friendly to Foreigners; to cajole us by fair words and cheap promises, into engagements which would enable them to turn the key on us. No one can observe what is now going on in China and Japan without the conviction that we have not enough to draw a simple inference from the plainest and most patent facts.

The objects of Mr. Hart and Mr. Brown were—it may be conjectured—to give the Foreign Ministers at Peking the go-by, and obtain, if possible, such engagements from the assumed ignorant Home Governments as would enable them, in the latter than erected, to serve purposes interests, without the risk of interference from Foreign Ministers, and independent of public opinion.

As to Mr. Burlingame, although he doubtless anticipated in an indefinite and hazy way some good ends for his mission, it would be a ludicrous denial of motives which powerfully animate all men, to suppose that a lucrative post, a pleasant tour, the prospective entrée to the best society in Europe, and the curious fascination connected with the thought of the oldest nation in the world being represented, by a member of the youngest, had not powerful attractions for him. He was enlisted to talk, and in this respect he acquitted himself with undeniable zeal. But though no limitations were imposed on his tongue, in this accomplishment, it is abundantly clear that it was never intended any one but himself should be committed by it.

We have thus given our readers what we believe to be an accurate account of the origin of this singular mission, withholding by reason of the death of its Chief any expression which would be unbecoming under such circumstances. We have never hesitated to declare our belief in the fair intentions of Mr. Burlingame, or our conviction of the utter hollowness of the mission so far as the Chinese Government were concerned. Slowly but surely, both Europe and America have awakened to this latter view, and the dreams into which they fell at Mr. Burlingame's bidding are vanishing as such dreams are bound to vanish. The whole of that airy structure is disappearing. The arguments adduced by the pros, the renouncatures of merchants, the more convincing attitude assumed by the Chinese Government, its discourtesy and even insolence, are all telling in the same direction; and by a curious Nemesis it seems more than probable, that from his own acts and utterances will arise a policy on the part of the Western nations, based on principles entirely antagonistic to those which Mr. Burlingame preached as the very foundation of his system while still a Minister at Pekin.

A MARTINET.—Paul I. was a madman, it is true, but his extravagances only typify the whims of those Russian Emperors in extreme absurdity. A regiment of dragoons once displeased him at a review. "One by one!" he cried, as if he was commanding an ordinary manœuvre. "Wheel by the right flank, to Siberia! March!" The entire regiment, officers and all, proceeded at once by forced marches to Siberia! It is true they did not arrive there; for their recall was obtained by the Comte Rostopchine, just as they had got half-way.—"Russia and Nicholas I." in Belgravia.

At Newmarket to-day the Two Thousand Guineas' Stakes were won by—e other of the Provincial Governor, although e treaty provides for one Plenipotentiary, not e fortifies, the number of Consulsat the open rts. Sir R. Alcock's position was palpably defensible. Lord Clarendon could, therefore, ake no objection to agreeing to what Mr. urlingame proposed, that the Central Gov- nment should be alone dealt with for the ture, and that the Minister as well as Consuls ould be debarred from making war when so dlined. It would have been well had Lord arendon not carried acquiescence still further. The understanding referred to above was raded as a concession by Mr. Burlingame, ough in point of fact it amounted to no more an a re-affirmation of the provisions of the eaty of 1858, with an implied censure of the inister for his lack of appreciation of the eaty's meaning. But Mr. Burlingame being extreme's clutched at the straw and made the ry utmost of it. He telegraphed his undere anding with Lord Clarendon in an imposing ragraph to the United States, in order that might come back from thence to London, and pear, as it did, in the Times and other news- pers, in such a guise as to lead people, until lightened by enquiry, to suppose that it had roceeded from the British Foreign Office. he flourish may be presumed to have answered s end.

When the speeches which were made by Mr. urlingame in New York reached Peking, Sir utherford's disquiet may be imagined. He id not for one thing relish the epithet "ty- anous" as descriptive of the policy of certain ountries not designated by name, and he eemed it prudent to write and disavow some f Mr. Burlingame's utterances. He may ossibly have pointed out in rebuttal of this pecial charge, that the very selection of Mr. urlingame as Chinese envoy was in itself onclusive proof, needing no corroboration, of a utter lawlessness. Mr. Burlingame having imself proclaimed in the same speech, forcet- ow blaring was the self-contradiction, that "co-operative" policy had been pursued for ouryears at Peking, to the great contentment of he Chinese Government, as well as of the Treaty owers. But be this as it may, when the news f the disapproval of his conduct in the Yang how affair reached Sir R. Alcock, he perceived ow Mr. Burlingame had rep id his good offices well nigh indeed to his utter undoing,—and ot for his own safety it was necessary to take pti-condgelsagainst his ally, whom accordingly e now proceeded as strongly to condemn as in he first instance he had strongly supported im.

It is satisfactory to think that in Paris Mr. Burlingame's success was entirely a social one. His titles, his dinners, his receptions, his establishment, all were delightful, and when Paris is pleased, it smiles—for the evening at least—with no great care of the politics of its entertainer. Lovely women and brilliant men crowded his rooms, he was a favourite with the great personage of the Empire, and he floated on the surface of that enchanting life not greatly anxious about the cloud which, rising like a man's hand, soon covered the bosom of his career. But these graceful festivities were somewhat rudely interrupted. Intelligence suddenly arrived in Paris of the murder of a French missionary in Sze-chuen, accompanied by loud complaints from the French Minister at Peking of the demeanour of the Chinese Government upon the question. It was politely pointed out to Mr. Burlingame, that this coarse rence and the tone of the Peking Government recalled but ill with the invitation he proclaimed in its name, and in language which the more fastidious taste of Europe looks upon with some suspicion, "to plant the shining cross on every hill and in every valley," and he was informed that an energetic remonstrance would be addressed to the Peking Government on the subject, and recommended to do likewise. With varying success he shortly afterwards passed on to the Swedish, Danish, Prussian and Russian Capitals, but time and space would fail us to recount his receptions at their Courts.

But what had the Peking Government to the treaty signed on their behalf with the United States? When Mr. Ross Browne, the late U. S. Minister arrived at Pekin, he lost no time in announcing his readiness to forward the wishes of which his predecessor had been the exponent, and which had diffused so much satisfaction among his countrymen. Gentlemen of scientific attainments had accompanied him to China, that he might the better aid in giving effect to those aspirations and views. To his infinite amazement, however, the Chinese Ministers answered that they and no intention of extending the relations as was suggested. What then of the treaty concluded with Mr. Burlingame? What of Mr. Burlingame's pledges? They had no information to vouchsafe. The treaty in question had not been ratified, and whether it would or would not be ratified was an open question. If the treaty had blocked the way to progress altogether, of course it would instantly have been so opted. The hesitation made in regard to it—a hesitation founded on the second clause in it—placed beyond all question the objects which the Chinese had in sending the mission.

These can be but little doubt that to the Burlingame mission scheme there were three parties. First, the Chinese Government. Second, Mr. Hart, the Inspector General of Foreign Customs at Pekin and Mr. Brown,—and Third, Mr. Burlingame.

The object of the Chinese Government was simply to throw dust in the eyes of Europe, in order to gain time for the maturing of their plans which are unquestionably hostile, and not friendly to Foreigners; to cajole us once again, with fair words and cheap promises, into engagements which would enable them to turn the key on us. So the case can observe what is now going on in China and doubt this for one moment, if he have wit enough to draw a simple inference from the plainest and most patent facts.

The objects of Mr. Hart and Mr. Brown were—it may be conjectured—to give the Foreign Ministers at Peking the goods and obtain, if possible, such expressions from the assumed ignorant Home Governments as would enable them, under the shelter thus created, to serve purely Chinese interests, without the risk of disturbance from Foreign Ministers, and independent of public opinion.

As to Mr. Burlingame, although he doubtless anticipated in an indefinite and hazy way some good ends for his mission, it would be a ludicrous denial of motives which powerfully animate all men, to suppose that a lucrative post, a pleasant tour, the prospect ere entered to the best society in Europe, and the curious fascination connected with the thought of the object mission in the world being represented by a subject of the youngest, had not powerful attractions for him. He was enlisted to talk, and in this respect he acquitted himself with undeniable zeal. But though no limitations were imposed upon him in regard to this accomplishment, it is abundantly clear that it was never intended any one but himself should be committed by it.

We have thus given our readers what we believe to be an accurate account of the origin of this singular mission, withholding by reason of the death of its Chief any expression which would be unbecoming under such circumstances. We have never hesitated to declare our belief in the fair intentions of Mr. Burlingame, or our conviction of the utter hollowness of the mission as far as the Chinese Government were concerned. Slowly, but surely, both Europe and America have awakened to this latter view, and the dreams into which they fell at Mr. Burlingame's bidding are vanishing as such dreams are bound to vanish. IMPERIAL QUARTO,

ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY, WITH THE

PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.

An ANGLO-CHINESE DICTIONARY, by the Rev. W. LOBSCHEID, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

FOR scope and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to unite the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby affecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications.

The scope of the work is as great, and its utilitarian purposes so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully, with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally.

It comprises upwards of two thousand large quarto pages.

Notions about Hell.

The following amusing picture is from the Phrenological Journal:—The place of suffering doomed is generally called in Chinese, "earth's prison"—that is, hell in English. It has ten departments, also called earth prisons, named according to the mode of punishment employed in them. There is a presiding judge, who decides in order on the place into which the wicked go just after death, in regard to the prison into which each is to enter. Flogging, bastinadoing, transportation, banishment, and death are the five punishments which are borne in this life; hell, hungry demons, and the state of brutes are the three ways of suffering after death. The ten kings of hell have each a hell in which to punish those who are condemned to them:

1. The hell in which are hills stuck full of knives.
2. The hell which has an iron boiler filled with scalding water.
3. The hell of cold and ice.
4. The hell of trees stuck full of swords.
5. The hell where men's tongues are plucked out, as a punishment for the sins of the tongue.
6. The hell of poisoned serpents.
7. The hell of cutting and grinding to pieces.
8. The hell of sawing into pieces.
9. The hell with iron beds.
10. The hell of blackness and darkness.

Besides those above named there are many others. For instance, those who killed pine and dogs will be torn to pieces by pigs and dogs—Cell.

The Acquittal at Tours.

(Spectator.)

The Measure of power is dogging the Emperor hard. He had nothing to do with the offence which provoked the recent trial at Tours, and very little to do with the acquittal of the offender, but offence and acquittal alike will in all human probability be visited on his head. That he either disbelieved, or frightened, or in any way influenced the High Court, as fanatics are saying all over Europe, we are entirely unable to believe. The history of his life may, as Republicans think, make any calumny credible, but all the probabilities which reasonable men are accustomed to weigh tell against the reception of this particular one. He has never displayed or felt any affection for his cousin, whom he left out of the line of succession, and did not even pension until he threatened to stand forward as leader of the extreme democratic side. His interest was a verdict of no slaughter, and a sentence of imprisonment, which he might when some time had passed away have commuted to one of sculpotish within the limits of Corsica. Moreover, it seems to be forgotten that he had before this great party to whom his personal power. He could not have instructed the Judge except through M. Ollivier, the Minister of Justice, who arrested the Prince without consulting the Sovereign, and he could not that we can see have instructed the Jury at all. They were all men of the better class, all chosen by lot, and all too old to hope for favours at the hands either of the Ministry or the Monarch. Moreover, they did not, as a body, vote for self perhaps so unjust as it appears. The Prince until condemned was legally an innocent, the law itself, in according him to special tribunal, recognized a distinction between him and ordinary citizens. A considerable latitude of speech is allowed even in England to prisoners under trial on a capital charge, and in most cases the violence of the prisoner was provoked by equal violence in the witness, who equally with himself were bound to respect a Court of Justice. Nor is it clear to our minds that Dirio de Rouvielle in crying "A mort, a mort!" did not actually mean to interrupt by violence the proceedings of the court, in which case his sentence of ten days' imprisonment was mild in comparison with the one Sir A. Cockburn would have inflicted. But then, if the Prince was justly treated, all meaner prisoners are entitled to equally considerable justice—to be held as for a time the Prince was held to be, innocent men under the Prince was held to be, innocent men under necessary detention. Notoriously this is not the case, and the impression left by the whole trial in the French mind will be that the law has been nullified, evidence twisted and equally outraged to protect a man accused of murder because he bore the name of the Imperial House. That the Emperor desired none of these things signifies nothing. The régime is his; the régime permits them, causes them, justifies them; and the régime stands condemned, with that condemnation of scorn which, in the history of France has never yet failed sooner or later to prove itself executive.

HOUSES No. 10, Arbuthnot Road, known as the Ice requires a surgery to establish a conviction, the "tie" of necessity involved acquittal, the very result which the Procureur General had especially and strongly deprecated, and at which the Presidents of the Court, whose summing-up had been fair enough, is said to have stood aghast. The Emperor must be acquitted, and yet it is on the Empire that the retribution will fall. No shock like this acquittal has for years been given to the national conscience, and in France, with all her faults, such shocks are not in other forgotten nor condoned. The trial has revealed to all Frenchmen three propositions the facts, far more important than the character of Prince Pierre, far more damaging than any act or series of acts he could have committed,—that the Empire, so far from removing, has intensified the frightful hostility of partiality of parties; that it has increased and so to speak corrupted the disrespect for human life; and that it has impaired or destroyed the one principle to which Frenchmen of every opinion still appeal with respect, the reverence for the equality of all citizens in presence of the law. Nobody can read the accounts of the trial, impartial as some of them seem to be, without believing that the governing motive in half the jury and at least the audience was loathing for the ideas represented by the Marseillaise, that justice and dignity and equality were alike forgotten in a burst of wild impression that the shooting down of a journalist of that kind was not an act deserving retribution at all. We say nothing about the charge of murder. To English observers the evidence seems to show that Victor Noir was shot down in a fit of large fury provoked not by the victim, but by the previous reflections of the Prince, who even in Court could scarcely restrain himself from threatening Maître Laurier, the opposing counsel, but we admit that on that point the verdict must be treated as decisive. It is the duty of juries to judge witnesses by their bearing as well as by their words, and it is clear that in this case the jury justly leaned to the evidence of the witnesses for the prosecution,—violence so unprovoked that it seemed even to friendly spectators as if their evidence was worthless, not because it was improbable, but because it was so like truth as to be resolved to reject their testimony altogether. But the charge of killing was admitted by the Prince himself, who indeed, never even attempted to raise the point; but related the incident as if Victor Noir had been a wild beast, shot lest he should charge. That killing was, according to English ideas, murder, a blow not justifying execution without trial; and the "French Idea," of which so much is made, only reduces the crime to unmanslaughter. Those ideas, no doubt, are ancient enough. If the Prince on receiving a blow had drawn a pistol, and then and there fought and killed him, no doubt a French jury would have declined to find him guilty of any but a civil offence; but neither the Code, which alone bound the jury, nor the "opinion" justified the instant shooting of an unarmed man. That on this charge there should have been an acquittal is an incident which can be explained only by assuming either that half the jury were blinded by political passion, or that the disrespect for human life in France has at last passed the Continental stage, and has reached that of the South-Western States of the Union. Throughout the Continent it is now held, in spite of religion, of morality, and in all countries but Spain of the law, to a gentleman who is insulted is entitled to execute his insulter if only he allows him his chance of adding murder to insult, but still that chance of heaping crime upon offence is rigorously protected. It is only in Alabama, Texas, and Paris that it is held justifiable to kill at sight without the formalities of fair play. How deep the evil has gone may be discerned from the letter in which M. Ollivier, before he became Minister, informed the Procureur-General that he should shoot M. Cassagnac if he struck him, and its depth must be attributed to the spirit bred by the Empire in society. From the foundation of the new régime no attempt has been made to discourage duelling. The greatest duellist in France has been such a favourite at the Tuileries that it was impossible to punish him, difficult even to obtain the assistance of the police against him when he had threatened a personal assault. The moral sanction of the governing power has been given to displays of savage violence hitherto unknown in Western Europe, and the evil has increased year by year till the very idea that slaughter is an offence not to be justified by and an insult has disappeared from society, and half the upper class even considering the Auteuil tragedy asked only whether or no the slayer had been struck. The hostility of public opinion has broken down the law still, as we see, the highest Court in the realm, a Court in which the very jurymen are selected by lot from among provincial magistrates, decides, in the teeth of law, in the face of admitted facts, that for one man to slay another without warning because he has been struck, or rather because it is just possible that he believed he had been struck, is no offence at all, not even an act of homicide. Such a verdict was possible in the worst Orleanist days, and the mistaken belief of the Parisian populace that the trial was a planned farce that lay against Prince Pierre is dead, with all the consequences that belief must entail, is but the just retribution for a system of government which has demoralized France.

It has so demoralized it that but for another incident in the case, the public conscience might not have been greatly affected by the verdict. The deference shown to the rank of the accused by everybody except the opposing counsel, who certainly spoke out with quite sufficient plainness, was not in itself unusual, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting:—

"The whole of your Books have been Audited —every Document, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank-book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubt as to Security in the whole."
